Reading short interest and options

These show how traders are betting, not how fast the business is growing: they hint at near-term volatility and sentiment. Short interest is reported twice a month; open interest counts option contracts expiring in the next 30 days, and calls expiring this week are flagged when they're 50% or more of those. Forward P/E uses analysts' earnings estimates for the next 12 months.

Short interest (% of float)

under 5%	Low	Few bets against the stock; the price mostly follows the business.
5%–10%	Moderate	Some skepticism; normal for fast-growing or volatile stocks.
10%–20%	High	A sizable bet on a decline. Moves get bigger both ways, and good news can force shorts to buy back.
20% and up	Very high	A crowded short: squeeze potential on good news, but many traders expect growth or the valuation to disappoint.

Days to cover

under 2	Low	Shorts could exit within a couple of days of normal trading.
2–5	Moderate	Shorts would need most of a week to exit.
5–10	High	Exiting takes over a week, so a rally can feed on itself as shorts buy back.
10 and up	Very high	Shorts are boxed in: classic short-squeeze conditions if the news turns good.

Put/call open interest

under 0.5	Very bullish	Call-heavy, traders positioned for gains. At extremes it can also mean froth.
0.5–0.8	Bullish	More calls than puts, typical for a stock people expect to grow.
0.8–1.2	Neutral	Bets roughly balanced.
1.2–1.5	Cautious	More puts, from holders hedging or traders betting on a drop.
1.5 and up	Bearish	Put-heavy, strong demand for downside protection. Contrarians sometimes read extreme pessimism as a sign of a bottom.
